Notice of Change to Paperless Instruction Manual

Endo Kogyo Co., Ltd. currently encloses an instruction manual whenever Spring Balancers and Retractors are shipped, but in accordance with global environmental protection, this will be discontinued as of December 2022, and we will change to paperless instruction manual. In the meantime, our other products will gradually follow and change to paperless instruction manual as well.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation with this change, so that we can reduce the environmental burden and provide better service for all our valuable customers.

1. Overview

The paper instruction manual will no longer be included, but a leaflet with the "Notification of Support Site" that contains QR code and the URL which brings you to the website link where you can view the instruction manual and download it in a PDF file will be included.
